

Westphalians continue dancing Bidding for the next dressage foals starts

Münster: 34 dressage foals are in the current lot of the Westphalian Online-Auction. A highly interesting collection that gives great hope for the future of these young stars. Young stallions are making their debut as sires and proven ones are once again demonstrating their outstanding heredity. The bidding starts today, Thursday, July 16, at 9 am. On Monday, July 20, starting at 7.30 pm, the exciting bid-up will once again be like "Going once, going twice and going three times".

After the successful Westphalian Online-Auction for dressage foals last week, the next auction will continue immediately. This collection contains 34 strong moving young dancers. 18 colts and 16 fillies will be auctioned in the bid-up on July 20. Sires of these highly talented foals are both young stallions, whose first foals were eagerly awaited at the auction and show grounds this year, and proven sires. Franziskus, who is stationed in Münster and successfully competing at Grand-Prix level, offers three offspring in this collection. The young but already successful sires Escamillo, So Unique, Dancier Gold and Viva Gold could already convince with their offspring at past online foal auctions. The representatives of their first years in this collection are in no way inferior to their predecessors in quality and appearance. The young Maracaná, Fonq and Arcachon are also represented in the collection with two offspring each. The lines of these dressage foals hold true treasures in store. Foals from the lines of Le Formidable and Lord Europe are represented as well as offspring from highly successful sport lines.

The collection is available with photos and videos at onlineauction.westfalenpferde.de. In order to present the foals as transparent and customer-oriented as possible, sufficient information about the dam lines is also provided. Registered users can download a veterinary examination protocol as well as the auction conditions. The bidding starts today, Thursday, July 16, at 9 am. The foals will go into the bid-up as usual on Monday evening, July 20, at 7.30 pm.
