

Westphalian stallion licensing from November 21 to 24

90 licensing candidates compete for titles

Münster: The Westphalian main licensing for riding horse stallions will take place in Münster-Handorf from November 21 to 24. 90 licensing candidates will be judged by the licensing commission during the Stallion Days. The stallion sales for dressage and jumping stallions will be held as OnLive Auctions on November 22 and 24. Tickets can still be purchased at the Westfälisches Pferdestammbuch.

A collection of about 90 highly talented stallion prospects will be presented at the Westphalian Horse Centre in Münster-Handorf from November 21 to 24. Like last year, the licensing days will already start on Sunday. On November 21, the dressage stallions will start off on the triangular track. This is followed by the presentation on the lunge on Sunday at noon. On Monday, the dressage stallions will be presented in free running before they will be auctioned off starting at 6 pm. The licensing of the jumping stallions begins on Tuesday, November 23, with the presentation on the triangular track. This is followed by the free jumping over three jumps from noon onwards. The second free jumping over one jump is scheduled for Wednesday morning, November 24. The auction will take place in the afternoon, after the licensing decisions. A detailed schedule is available at westfalenpferde.de. The stallion sales will take place in the form of an OnLive auction. The collection with photos and videos as well as all relevant information is available at onlineauction.westfalenpferde.de.

Unlike last year, spectators are once again welcome on the grounds at the Westphalian Hores Center. Tickets can be ordered directly at the Westfälisches Pferdestammbuch. Those who cannot experience the licensing days on site in Münster-Handorf can follow the entire event live at ClipMyHorse.TV and via westfalenpferde.de.
